DOCTOR HELD IN MURDER OF COED

BODY FOUND ON RIFLE RANGE

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 15.—(U.P.)—Police tonight were attempting to write a confession from Dr. James H. Snook, the Ohio State university professor of veterinary, who was arrested today as a suspect in the rifle range murder of Miss Theresa Hix, a coed in the college of medicine.

Dr. Snook admitted that he saw Miss Hix frequently and that he had helped finance her education, but he denied that he knew anything about the murder. Miss Hix's body, mutilated almost beyond recognition was found Friday afternoon by two boys on a rifle range northwest of Columbus.

In the doctor's blue coupe police found one bloodstained glove on which they claimed to have discovered strands of hair. A hairpin was picked up from the floor of the car. Doctor Snook, however, was ready with an explanation. He said he had stained the glove after injuring his hand while repairing his automobile.

Tracing back through the recent movements of the middle aged veterinarian, who was arrested at his office on the university campus, police learned that he went frequently to the rifle range for target practice. For several years he was world champion pistol shot and in 1929 he went to Antwerp as a member of the winning American Olympic pistol team.

Dismissal of the suit is said to be followed by the filing of a new action in Oakland. Miss Stafford claims she received injuries when Raffetto's car in which she was a passenger plunged into a ravine on the Fish Ranch road, July 8, 1928.

She charges that she was in a hospital five months recovering from a fractured pelvis, torn ligaments in the right shoulder and other injuries.

Keech was leading the race by nearly two laps at the half-way mark shortly after which the crash occurred.

Keech, who has made himself known as one of the outstanding race drivers of 1928, established a world's speed record of more than 207 miles an hour for straightaway driving at Daytona Beach, Fla. His record was broken later by Major H. O. D. Segrave of England. Keech also won the 500-mile Memorial day race at the Indianapolis speedway.

BETHEL ISLAND SUITS SETTLED

MARTINEZ, June 15.—Suits amounting to approximately $400,000 for damages alleged by ranchers to have been sustained in the Bethel Island flood of 1926 were terminated today upon settlement for approximately $200,000 by W. T. Sesson and the Sesson Realty company. Twenty-one ranchers filed suits when thousands of acres of agricultural lands were inundated after a levee of the San Joaquin river on the Sesson holdings gave way.

Amounts of the settlements were agreed upon by a board of arbitration. All of the suits charged the Sesson interests with responsibility for the flood. A levee on the Sesson lands was cut for the purpose of installing a drain and it was at this point that the river cut through after repairs had been made. Claims were made that proper safeguards were not taken in repairing the dike.

The settlement of the various suits was effected after Bloomfield and Claves of Antioch obtained judgment here for $22,000 against Sesson and the realty firm for losses of farm products, destruction of fences and inundation of their lands.

In her complaint, Mrs. Woods charges that her husband often flew into a rage and that on one occasion when she called his attention to weeds growing in the garden, he became angry and leaving the house, declared he would never come back.

The couple was married in Riverside December 23, 1919.

Police Mark Time In Tallman Hunt

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.—(U.P.)—The baffled police of two Pacific coast cities marked time tonight in the hope that some chance display might reveal the hiding place of William L. Tallman.

After a ten day manhunt that has led officers up and down the coast in search of the handsome radio operator, suspected of slaying Mrs. Virginia Patty in Los Angeles, the fugitive had apparently made good his escape.

Without relaxing their vigilance, police here expressed some doubt that Tallman was the "brick-bat" murderer. Captain of Detectives Duncan Matheson declared that Mrs. Patty was a woman "with many male acquaintances."

NEW BILL TO CURB PAY RAISES

The signing of Assembly Bill 886 may possibly mark the end of what has for many years been recognized as one of the worst forms of legislative practice, this practice consists of the passage of so-called "County Government Bills," through which the legis lature fixes the salaries of county officials and deputies.

By these bills salary increases for county governments are determined by the state, although neither legislature nor governor can have any knowledge as to the necessities underlying such requests for increase. Recommendations from grand juries and boards of supervisors are asked, but too frequently these bear evidence of too little consideration.

The result is the enactment of practically every county government bill presented to the legislature, often with large salary increases. The obvious remedy is to design some form of county charter, similar to our well established system of city charters, by which the voters of every community can determine these county expenses for themselves.

Such charters have been established in some six counties of the state, but the plan has never been made sufficiently popular.

A proposition that a commission be established to solve the problems of local self government was included in Governor Young's biennial message, delivered at the opening of the recent legislative session. In that message was included the following:

"In this connection I would direct your attention to the need for a plan of county government more responsive to the people than is provided by the general provisions of the state constitution. It is not conducive to the good government of the state that the legislature should determine salaries of county officers and their deputies, and even the number of deputies a county office shall have. In practice, this results in the legislative delegation from each county of deciding these matters."

"It is now possible for each county to frame and adopt a county charter, covering these and other matters, it is seldom done. Local home rule in county affairs should be more easily obtainable. It is therefore my intention to recommend to you a plan for careful study of the modernizing of our general system of county government. To the end that the people of each county may enjoy a large measure of local control over local government, and be able more readily to bring their respective counties into line with the changing needs of each."

When this bill takes effect it is the governor's intention to form a commission of specialists in local government and of those especially interested in keeping down local governmental expense by making county governments more responsive to the people than is possible under the present system.

Wanted: Prof. Rogers's Snobs

Great excitement among editors and educators, because one of the latter has told tales out of school—told not only graduating collegians, but exactly what it values in young men (and young women) are! "I want to preach to you the gospel of being a snob," Prof. Robert E. Rogers of the English Department informed the graduating class of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Then he explained to the youths that among the really vital factors for their success, they must include buying a second suit of clothes as soon as possible, having their shoes shined every day and marrying a rich girl instead of a poor one.

Though editors and educators be moved to more or less excited utterance by the cynical candor of Prof. Rogers, we doubt if it either shocks or surprises the younger generation. What the members of this generation have had around them in a million different but equally pervasive and persuasive ways, ever since they first went to kindergarten and dancing school, is that, here in to-day's America, they are judged first and most by surfaces and by the appearance of material prosperity.

Any family living in the ordinary suburb, for example, soon finds that if the little girl doesn't wear a different dress to school every day, she doesn't "rate."

Is the little boy's allowance isn't large enough to enable him to stand treat frequently at the soda shop, he is cold-shouldered.

The children move into a new neighborhood, the first-questions asked them by the neighbors' children are, "Have you a car? What make?" As they grow older, their popularity is determined far more by what they wear than by what they know. (It is fact, the keen student and the winner of good marks is likely to be voted "an egg" or a "pot" by many other high school youngsters.)

When they get to college the gospel of dressing for success is preached to them harder than ever. "If you want to get a good job, put up a good front," is the motto. "If you want to be prosperous, look like prosperity!"—If you want to make a hit with an employer, dress as smartly as possible—old grads and go-getter pros, hand out the same line, over and over to young men and women. The especially confident and friendly instructor often makes a point of advising his most promising male student to marry a rich girl.

THACKERAY'S famous definition of a snob is one who "meanly admires mean things." Are not such admirations fostered in young persons by our whole scheme of modern American life? What else do most of us consider important except good clothes and cars and radios and, in general, things that cost "good money?"

It is not that we ourselves are opposed to pretty clothes, for example. We like them as much as any sane woman does. Simply, they seem to us less important than keen wits and broad minds; less important, even, than good books, tickets for the best plays and concerts, a home with some beauty and privacy. Having been brought up in that older, simpler America—where children were taught that "fine feathers do not make fine birds" and "handsome is as handsome does"—we have not yet acquired the point of view of Prof. Rogers.

This is ours: Granted that employers should exact neatness and cleanliness in employees—yet surely a young person's fitness for most jobs is not determined by the cut of his business suit, or by the quality and variety of her silk dresses! Clothes are not a may be mixed in the twinkling of an eye. Or canned beans may be used. The capers heighten the flavor and dress up the salad.

The culinary kit includes a measuring cup, knife, tablespoon, corkscrew, grater, mixing bowl, cutting board, salad bowl, four jewel plates.

Place the string beans, drained of all liquid, in the mixing bowl and pour over them the French dressing—six tablespoons olive oil, two to three tablespoons vinegar, salt and a dash of paprika. Let the beans marinate in this for twenty minutes. Marinating brings out the flavor of the beans.

The cabbage taken from its nest near the ice should be crisp. Lay upon the cutting board and shred fine. Likewise shred the peppers. Open the bottle of capers.

Mix the shredded cabbage and peppers with the beans lightly; add the capers. Line the salad bowl generously with lettuce leaves and pile in the cabbage mixture. Over it grate the carrots. Serve at once.

Increase the proportions for larger servings if desired.

New Crepe Shoes Are Pleated

IN THE evolution of the silk slipper that of crepe de Chine in fine pleated is one of the most interesting novelties in a season when it is obvious much imagination has been the guiding star of designers. The pleated silk shoe is very neat on the foot and follows the slenderizing lines of the popular opera pump, a trim little huckie serving to add a sharp note of contrast.

Quite a unique pump is that of ombre satin, its deepest tone at the toe of the shoe and the bottom of the heel, the shading being very prettily done. A cluster of pearls forms a very conservative ornament at the instep.

A summer pump designed for spectator sports wear is of brown calf with a deeper tone forming a smart trim at toe and heel as well as back portion. Several rows of perforation follow the lines of the throat.

Thousands of letters and telegrams informing Mr. Hoover that no other selection would be satisfactory to the evangelical churches and professional "dry" organizations of the country. Soon after it became known that the President had decided to have George W. Wickham, former Attorney General, and Chairman of the commission Mrs. Willebrandt begin to confirm quite readily the reports that she intended leaving the Department of Justice.

She said she had contemplated doing so for some time, that it was up to her to get out now and build a private law practice or else reconcile herself to the prospect of spending the rest of her life in the Government service. She declines to talk about Prohibition. She simulates a very deep interest in the development of aviation law. Reports that a retainer from the Aviation Corporation will make her "Czarina of the Air" are pure nonsense.

That Mrs. Willebrandt leaves the Department of Justice without any heartaches is not asserted by those who profess to know her confidence.

In the case of Dr. Work there is less of camouflage.

There never has been much of a secret of the fact that Mr. Hoover did not wish Dr. Work as Chairman of the National Committee. Dr. Work picked the job for himself and stumped the candidate into making the appointment. There was friction during the campaign. There have been sharp disagreements since the election.

The good doctor had desired the National Republican Chairmanship for a number of years and wished to make it a place of great power in the distribution of Federal patronage. He wished to have the National Committee have the first call on all worthwhile jobs and to have the recommendations of the committee delivered from the Chairman's office to the White House for routine approval.

Mr. Hoover had some other ideas about that. Moreover, Mr. Hoover has the appointing power. Dr. Work ran a bad second.

Dr. Work went away from Washington a few weeks ago, telling his friends he was through and that the differences between the President and himself over procedure were irreconcilable.

Proving an Alibi Seems to Be the Great Indoor Sport Among Washington Officials Who Are Forced Out

WASHINGTON, June 7.

One of Washington's greatest institutions is the "diplomatic denial." It covers everything from resignations "due to ill health" to mutual exchanges of personal esteem between men who quarrel politically.

We have had two of them recently. The first was that of Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt. The other that of Dr. Hubert Work.

In both instances the White House sought to foreclose stories of friction. The denials have not been as airtight as the President's advisers might have hoped. No form has been devised to restrain the so-called "Whispering Gallery of the Potomac" from gossiping.

It has come to be axiomatic in Washington that only Democrats wash their political linen in public. Whenever Republican officials fall out with one another they have their knock-down and drag-out privately; one of them decides to quit and an exchange of cordial letters is arranged for the edification of a glib press and an unsuspecting public.

When a Cabinet officer resigns the real reason is concealed as skillfully as possible behind an exchange of pleasantries with the White House. The necessity for the recouping of private fortunes after years devoted to the public service is an old stand-by, even where the Cabinet member has been let out. To print the truth about the retirement is to invite an accusation of lese majeste.

There appears to be no yardstick whereby public men may be measured when they give to the American people a wholly erroneous statement for other purpose than to keep down political troubles in the party family. In not a few instances there have been some rather bald-faced lies palmed off on the American people.

AS LANE SAW IT

Withdrawal of two of the outstanding figures in the Hoover pre-convention campaign cannot escape notice in a capital which the late Franklin K. Lane described with immortal accuracy as a "combination of servants' quarters, drawing-room and political-caucus."

The difficulty of getting an accurate statement of the facts back of the resignations of Mrs. Willebrandt as Assistant Attorney General in charge of Prohibition Enforcement, and of Dr. Work, as Chairman of the Republican National Committee, may be illustrated best perhaps by still a third incident.

Soon after the Kansas City convention there was a stormy scene between Herbert Hoover and his running mate, Charles Curtis. The Curtis umbrage was over the selection of Henry J. Allen as publicity director of the Hoover campaign committee. Curtis could not understand it and refused to listen to Allen and all pleas in extenuation of the appointment. He held Allen to be his most bitter political enemy.

When the Wichita publisher was named United States Senator in succession to Curtis, the new Vice President posed for the camera men clapping the hand of Allen and smiling as if greeting a long lost friend.

A statement was issued to let the dear public know how great was the personal attachment of the two men. There are various slant designations for such a hippodrome, but Washington finds none of them quite so expressive as its old reliance: "BUNK."

FRIENDS BETRAY FACTS

The primary difficulty about maintaining the well-intentioned pretenses and subterfuges is that the friends of

ANOTHER BACCALAUREATE SERMON

MEMBERS of the graduating class, friends and creditors: The subject of to-day's baccalaureate sermon is on the necessity of being a snob. You are on the threshold of the world with a rubber doornail before you. Will you make the most of yourselves as college graduates?

Now, how can college men be members of the ruling class without becoming traffic cops? The answer is easy: PUT UP A FRONT! But at the same time always buy two-pants suits, as the rear is liable to wear out. Now, as I look at your bright and shining trousers—I mean faces—I know you are asking how you can succeed. Let me explain.

The first rule is, Don't be a slob. Keep out of one-arm lunches and eat at a club. It is easier to charge it for the first two weeks, at least. Jam on et ouais is much nicer to eat than ham and eggs, even if it is the same thing. Make your college education count.

All our most successful men have succeeded by putting up a front. Look at S. S. Kresge, S. S. Van Dine and S. S. Leviathan! All of them making good!

When Mr. Kresge started in business he put up a front and painted it red. Mr. Kresge started with a humble $10 and 10 cent store. To-day he owns 25 cent to $1 stores—an increase of 1,000 per cent.

Look at what clothes did for Grover Whalen. Even when he was an infant he had many changes of clothing each day. Grown to manhood, Mr. Whalen outfitted puts on a silk topper as early as 7 A. M. to catch the first tug down New York harbor. He associated with the best people, such as Trudy Eddie, Queen Marie, Col. Lindbergh and Jackie Coogan.

To-day Mr. Whalen stops traffic with one stroke of his monocle and has eight pairs of red spats to match his moods when reading editorial criticism.

Would Mr. Gann have got the best seat at the table if she had waited for the head waiter to discover her? No! Mrs. Gann put up a front. She has sixteen squawks and now she has a place right next to the celery whenever Alton Longworth doesn't show up.

That, my dear seniors, is the necessity of putting up a front. It is like old John B. Public, owner of all the Public theatres, used to say. Mr. Public said, "Just put up a front and let the stage door and back alleys take care of themselves."

Henry Ford succeeded because he not only put up a front but hung a free bumper on it. Many other motor manufacturers I might mention have done well in the same way. When you put up a good front you don't have to worry about the rear transmission.

Gentlemen, you must be snobs. It is easy to-day to tilt your nose up, with perspiration so prevalent and Requet cheese so popular.

Assume that everything you do is right, until your broker calls for more margin.

Remember, you are college men, and it is just as easy selling bonds as shelling strings. You have to furnish tips with both of them anyway.

You are going out into the world as soon as you can marry the best daughter as easily as you can a stenographer. It's $2 for the license, either way.

And so, you seniors must be snobs. When you associate with traffic cops, apartment janitors and subway guards, always act like gentlemen—and see how far you get.

Fashioned of cooked and raw vegetables, the colorful salad may substitute for vegetable and salad at dinner. Larger servings of salad are advisable when no vegetables are served with the meat or fish course.

OAKLAND CHIEF GETS MOTOR POST

DETROIT, Mich., June 15. Keen interest in the recently announced election of A. R. Glancy, president and general manager of the Oakland Motor Car company, to a vice-presidency in General Motors, is evidenced here in automotive circles. Glancy, in point of years of service with the corporation is among its youngest major executives. It is pointed out, his election is a vice-presidential climax, and an unusual record of achievement.

Joined in 1920
Although affiliated for some time with the duPonts, Glancy first became identified exclusively with General Motors in 1929 as general manager of the same. A former company at Janesville, Wisconsin. In 1924 he was made vice-president and a assistant general manager of the Oakland Motor Car company. The following year he succeeded to his present title of president and general manager.

During the four years of his presidency the Oakland Motor Car company has revealed an amazing growth. Five years ago it occupied a minor comparative position in the industry. In the official rating for the 1929 National Automobile show, it ranked in fourth place among all members of the National Automobile chamber of commerce.

Annual production five years ago hovered around the 44,000 car mark, while last year it was in excess of 260,000 Oakland and Pontiac sixes with this year's schedule calling for a substantial increase.

New Factory
During Glancy's early connection with the Oakland division the manufacturing facilities of the company were confined to a small factory with cramped working quarters while today the plant is housed in a mammoth structure with a roof area of more than a hundred acres, which is claimed to be the newest and most modernly equipped automobile plant in the world.

Dealer outlets and service facilities have been expanded at a parallel rate, with the result that today Oakland is regarded as one of the hardest and fastest growing companies in the industry.

We don't know what Uncle Sam is going to get out of all these disarmament conferences but the opinion of most it won't be anything much different from the raspberry.

Teutons Fight Building Of New Streets

The typical German road, remarks the National Automobile club, is usually a continuous series of ruts, curves, and sharp turns. It is a road from one village to another, going through the main streets of every town and hamlet where the traffic is frequently blocked by all sorts of hindrances. The villages are quite close together and the time consumed in passing through often equals the time spent in traveling at high speed from one to the other.

The question of financing the building of new roads in Germany is cause for great agitation at the present time. Villages desire to keep their streets rough and crooked in order to slow down traffic and so prevent injury to the horses, chickens, and pigs which run at large. Possibly the merchants are of the opinion that such slow travel might induce the motorist to stop for a meal, to change a tire, or perhaps purchase some small articles. In order to overcome the time handicap presented by such conditions, it will be necessary for the government to build entirely new roads leading around the towns instead of through them. This requires considerable capital and meets with opposition by a great many of the people.

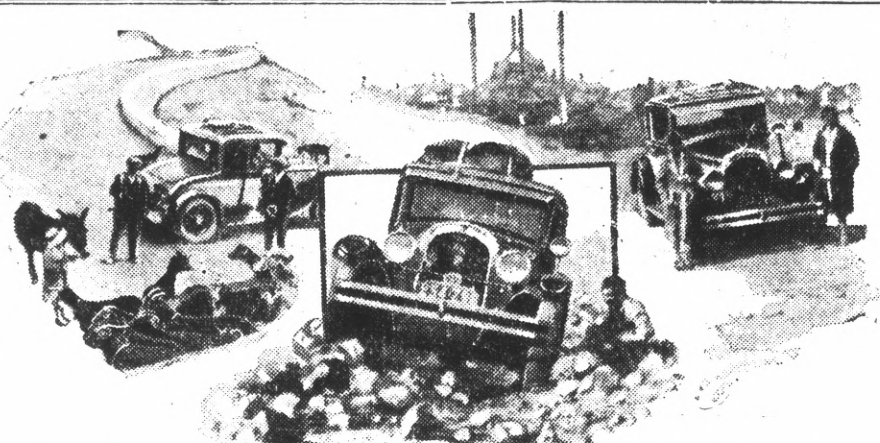

Oil Hinges Of Rumble Seats

Rumble seats have provided a new opportunity for oil can. To facilitate raising and lowering these seats, the hinges should be well lubricated. This is particularly true on those cars with rumble seats that are operated from the front compartment. More ordinary care is required in this work for oil carelessly used will cause damage to the clothing of the next person to use the seat.

Changed Angle Of Seat Aids Driver

A continuous run of many hours duration usually results in cramped muscles or stiff joints. A change of seat position or angle may alleviate some of this discomfort. Carry one or two short pieces of wood about one-half inch thick. Placing these under the forward end of the seat will change the angle of posture and relieve the muscles. After a time in this position the wedge may be removed and the former position resumed.

Bring On The Roads

GOAT TRAILS and trails that passed under an alias as "roads" held no fears for Viviane W. Adams and Gertrude T. Baskins, who recently made a 10,000 mile tour of Europe in a Chrysler. The two women drivers reported that roads were "terrible" but the Chrysler never faltered once.

CHRYSLER ENDS TOUR 'ROUND WORLD

An ever increasing popularity of Chrysler cars with women is reported from all over the world, according to Harry Curry, local Chrysler dealer. Women driving Chrysler cars are recording accomplishments of which even the best men drivers need not be ashamed. The manner in which these cars respond to control, according to women who have spent hundreds of hours behind the wheel, make these achievements possible.

An unusual tribute to the stamina and ease of operation of Chrysler cars was paid by Mrs. Vivian W. Adams, wife of Major John Quincy Adams, United States Marine corps, in a communication recently received by the Chrysler Sales corporation, in which she vividly describes a 10,000 mile trip in a Chrysler "72" coupe through southern Europe, accompanied by her friend, Mrs. Gertrude T. Baskins.

Desiring to visit parts of southern Europe unfrequented by the average tourist, Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Baskins, against the advice of friends, left New York with a Chrysler coupe which had already covered 30,000 miles, with the intention of driving from Cadiz, Spain, to Turkey.

Roads Bad
From the outset the two women found the roads scarcely fit for motor car journey. They covered the first 1200 miles from Madrid over the Pyrenees, at a time of the year when the heat in the mountains was terrific. Although the car had to labor up roads which seemed but goat trails, for hours on end, a no time were they forced to stop because of the motor becoming overheated.

Throughout Spain they encountered few motor cars and the natives of the villages and hamlets which they passed were amazed, not only by the fact that a woman was driving the automobile, but that any automobile could be built which a woman could operate.

From Madrid the couple drove through France to Paris, where after a two month's stay in which they improved their driving skill in the crowded traffic of the French metropolis, they set out for Sofia, in the Balkans. For 1200 miles they drove their Chrysler over roads belying description, but it was not until they had covered a total of 5000 miles from their start at Cadiz that they experienced their first tire trouble. At that the trouble was not caused by road condition, but by a gang of rowdies in a small village who, enraged by the French license on the car, cut one of the tires.

11 Countries
Through eleven different countries Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Baskins drove, finding the roads a little less terrible than the price of gasoline, which cost $1.50 a gallon in some places. Despite the road conditions, however, no mechanical difficulties were experienced, not even when they approached the Bulgarian frontier, which was entered through Dragoman Pass, a narrow gorge, not at all suitable for motoring. Over this stretch of road an army escort accompanied the two daring women to protect them from bandits, reported lurking in the mountains.

Through Macedonia the intrepid women drivers proceeded, finding the 600 miles just before they reached Athens, through Salonika, the worst of the trip. Here the road was filled with ruts and made practically impassable by huge boulders which had descended from the mountain side and which they were forced to roll out of the way before they could proceed.

At points these pathways were narrow corners and a slight swerve would mean that the dauntless couple and their car would be dashed to death on the rocks beneath.

Throngs Curious
For four miles on the journey, while the pitiless sun beat down upon them, they were forced to drive in second, yet never once did the sturdy Chrysler motor overheat or fail to respond to Mrs. Adams' call for power.

In every village in which the car halted, curious throngs, at times the entire populace, surrounded the Chrysler coupe, examining it with interest, for in some of these places the inhabitants had never seen a self-propelled vehicle.

Eventually Athens was reached, and after several days the two women were incapacitated by attacks of dengue fever, which had the city in its grip. On their recovery they drove over similar roads to Adrianople, on the Turkish border, with the intention of crossing the border and touring through Turkey. The fact that duty of $600 was demanded changed the minds of Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Baskins, as they changed their route, driving through Bulgaria to Rumania, after paying a fee of $15 to cross the river Danube in a ferry boat, a charge of $1 a minute for the short journey.

The roads in Rumania, were a great improvement over any they had traveled and as a consequence they met many motorists, most of whom, Mrs. Adams stated, were driving Chryslers.

After reaching their original objective, the Chrysler "72" coupe was headed west and the two women proceeded over good roads through Hungary, Austria and France back to Paris, after having consumed five months in the tour and having covered 10,000 miles.

Machine, Boat Combined In One
DES MOINES, Ia., June 15. (UP)—W. G. Daubenhoefer, of Des Moines, has designed and built a combination automobile and motorboat.

Tests already made, Daubenhoefer said, show the machine will make 75 miles an hour on land and 20 miles on water. It is equipped with water tanks and will not sink, he said. He plans to manufacture the machine in both open and closed models.

Needless Use Of Lights Scored

A parked car with bright headlights not only proves annoying to the drivers of oncoming cars, but it also places an unnecessary drain on the battery, states L. G. Evans, general service manager of the National Automobile club.

Keep Feet On Floor While Driving Car

Keep the feet on the floor of the car while driving, suggests L. G. Evans, general service manager for the National Automobile club. Riding the clutch or brake pedal is bound to cause premature wear.

Clean Windshield
Aids Car Drivers
Glaring lights are often intensified by dirty windshields, warns L. G. Evans, General Service manager for the National Automobile club. A clean windshield alleviates eye strain and insures safer driving conditions.

CANADA AIDS AUTOMOBILE TOURISTS

The numerous requests for travel information on the part of those contemplating driving to Canada has led the touring department of the National Automobile club to issue the following rules governing the entry of foreign cars into that country:

Motorists driving to Canada may enter their car duty free for a period of 24 hours without a permit and under permit for a period of 60 to 90 days, or six months, subject to regulations prescribed by the Customs Division of the Canadian Department of National Revenue.

Tourists must show that vehicle is being used for travel purposes and not for commercial or business transactions. State license cards must be presented.

Certificate should be obtained from United States Customs Collector at port of departure, permitting car to be taken out of this country for temporary stay.

To obtain a 60 day permit, the owner of the automobile must report to the Canadian Customs Officer and make application. If satisfied that conditions have been complied with, a tourist's permit will be issued for 60 days; a 30 day extension being procurable upon reapplying, at date of expiration, to any collector, or sub-collector, of National Revenue.

Grease Aids In Recovering Nuts

Nuts and small parts have a most annoying habit of dropping into the most inaccessible places, remarks L. G. Evans, general service manager for the National Automobile club. One way of retrieving these stray bits of metal is to go fishing for them with a wire upon the end of which has been placed a blob of grease.

U. S. Makes 85 Percent Of Cars

Eighty-three percent of the world's motor vehicles are manufactured in the United States, reports the National Automobile club. Canada claims 4.7 percent; France 4.2 percent; England 4.9 percent; Germany 1.7 percent; Italy 1.2 percent, while the remaining 7 percent are divided among the many remaining countries.

Keep Warning Light On Car

Three persons were killed recently when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into a truck standing on the highway. According to information received by the public safety service department of the California State Automobile association, the commercial vehicle had no rear light burning. This common cause of highway crashes has been made the subject of the latest bulletin issued by the California committee on Public Safety, which is coordinating the work of various groups in a state-wide campaign to reduce the death and injury toll and property loss from traffic accidents. Motorists are advised in the committee bulletin to be sure always that a warning light is burning when a car is parked on a dark street or is standing on an unlighted roadway.

REDWOOD ROAD PROVING POPULAR

The Redwood highway, and all points of interest within the Redwood empire, extending from San Francisco to Grants Pass, has proven to be the mecca for an unusually large number of motorists, states a report issued by the National Automobile club.

This territory lying north of San Francisco is amazingly rich in its wealth of scenic beauty and lore of early California history. Its lakes, rivers, and rugged shoreline; its fertile valleys and thickly timbered hills, its groves and giant Redwoods and its many towns, with their background of romance and history, supply a region which year after year draws the motorists in every increasing numbers.

The Redwood Empire association has done much in fostering a spirit of co-operation between the communities of this empire; a cooperation which is bearing fruit in the rapid advancement of this region. The Redwood highway extending the full length of the Redwood empire, offers a most enjoyable route to all points in Oregon and Washington. Motorists contemplating a trip to the north are offered the suggestion of planning their route to go one-way over the Redwood highway and one way via the Pacific highway, through the great central valley of northern California.

A loosely stretched fan belt will render efficient service and will greatly outlast one which is too tightly stretched, remarks L. G. Evans, general service manager for the National Automobile club.

STOOD ALONE FIVE YEARS AGO—STANDS ALONE TODAY

"Chrysler came into a seemingly crowded motor car market and almost immediately swept its way into unprecedented acceptance as a quality product. That which ordinarily takes years to achieve was won almost overnight. + + Why? Because Chrysler, brushed aside outworn traditions in engineering, in design, and in performance. It brought to bear both scientific exactness and artistry. + + That is why Chrysler has taken the country by storm — why it still stands and will long stand alone — why, if you want what Chrysler gives, Chrysler alone can satisfy you."

CHRYSLER'S PLACE IN THE SUN

Prior to five years ago there were no Chrysler motor cars. In five years, Chrysler, from a standing start, has overtaken leading cars of three, four and five times its age.

The spectacle of a newcomer so swiftly becoming a leader can bring the logical mind to but one conclusion: There must be something remarkable, something altogether different and superior, in the cars that Chrysler builds.

There is a definite superiority in Chrysler cars. Hundreds of thousands of motorists the world over have learned it.

There is in Chrysler performance, a thrilling sense of endless power, a swift eagerness of life and spirit, a restful feeling of perfect balance and positive safety that cannot be experienced except in a Chrysler. There is in Chrysler design artistic freshness and modern charm. There is in Chrysler riding qualities a smoothness, a cradled restfulness quite without counterpart.

Drive a Chrysler car today and realize, better than words could ever tell you, why Chrysler has won so glittering a place in the sun—and why Chrysler goes on and on to an ever-increasing popularity and prestige.

MARQUETTE SIX ATTRACTS MANY

Reports gathered from all dealers in the nation reveal that the initial presentation of the Marquette motor car, the new medium priced six-cylinder companion to Buick, was unprecedented in enthusiasm and interest shown by viewers, according to officials of the C. C. Kratzer Motor company, local Buick-Marquette dealers.

Not only was an unusually large number of orders for the new car taken by dealers everywhere, but attendance at the various dealer showrooms reached record-breaking proportions, according to the Buick executives.

More than 15,000 persons were checked through the entrance to the San Francisco Buick-Marquette show room during the first two days of the Marquette showing, while a like number of visitors was recorded at the Eastbay salesrooms, it was revealed. Attendance in like proportion was reported from all principal dealer centers in the Bay region, Sacramento valley and San Joaquin valley.

"The fleet, low swung appearance of the Marquette pleased at once," Kratzer said, "but the greater enthusiasm was later revealed after our visitors had inspected the mechanism of the cars and had the opportunity to ride in them. The powerful 67.5 horsepower L-head engine, equipped with its gasoline pump, was favorably commented upon at once. But the unexpected power of the car, together with its lightning-like getaway and ease of hill-climbing, won by far the most enthusiastic admiration.

"We are exceptionally gratified in the fact that the Marquette has so convincingly made good all our pre-announcement claims that it would set entirely new standards of value, appearance and performance in the medium priced or $1,000 automotive sales field. Conclusive evidence has already been furnished us and the others who have already examined and driven the cars that Marquette will just as surely lead its field as Buick has set the standard in its class for the past many years.

CHEVROLET SIX COLOR SCHEME LAUDED

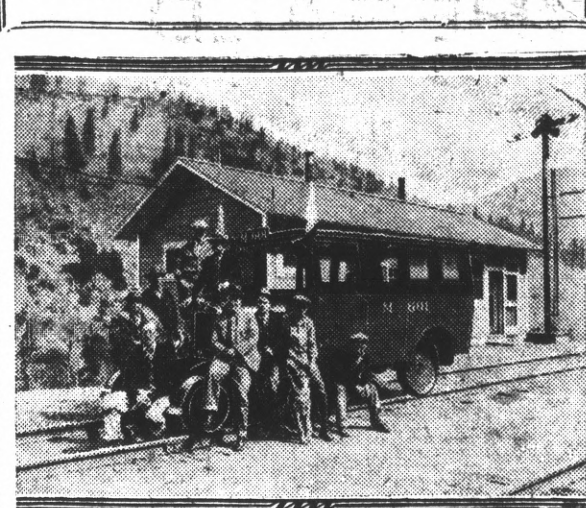

The new Fisher bodies which distinguished the 1929 Chevrolet closed models are among the finest creations, regardless of price, which this famous automobile body company has ever produced, and in addition to their apparent attractiveness of finish and design, embody several new structural advancements, according to the Golden Rule Chevrolet company, local distributors.

One of the most important and distinctive of these features is to be found in the construction of the new Chevrolet roofs. Through a noticeable lowering of the rear roof line and through the carrying of the steel panel effect up into the roof a new note of refinement and a new standard of ruggedness has been achieved. Because of this the roof deck of the new Chevrolet is scarcely noticeable to the eye. Furthermore it is lighter which makes for greater ease of handling and greater safety because of the lowering of the center of gravity.

Instead of the heavy side rails of solid wood, the new Fisher bodies on the Chevrolet are of the skeleton type. The skeleton consists of two roof rails running the full length of the roof. These are held together by strong wood braces as well as by bolts at the front and rear. Over all this is superimposed a long steel roof rail panel which is welded with the upper rear panels so as to form one piece.

Metal Bodies
The main part of the new Chevrolet roof, as in all roofs manufactured by Fisher, consists of slate and bows, the finest type of group construction. This is mounted a separate assembly on the body frame. Fisher bodies differ from other types in that the roof, because it is a special assembly, is not depended upon to brace the body frame. The body frame, on the contrary, is held securely in place by an elaborate system of heavy metal braces. This strongly braced frame supports the roof and actually strengthens and re-inforces it. Another feature found in Chevrolet closed models this year for the first time in the low price field is the adjustable driver's seat. All the bodies are rigidly braced, according to new engineering discoveries, to take care of road shocks, strains and stresses. All, too, are of famous wood reinforcing steel and steel reinforcing wood throughout.

From every appearance factor the new Chevrolet bodies offer the latest and best in motor car design. The new radiator shell is manufactured of brass, plated with chromium. Chromium is a metal noted for its hardness, guaranteed to retain its lustrous finish indefinitely. The beautiful new headlamps are fitted with chromium plated rims and on mounted chromium plated standards.

New Hood
Other features that add to the beauty of the new bodies are the new running boards and the new hood design, enhanced by the 15 narrow louvers at the rear of the hood. The new sweeping head fenders are rigidly supported and in perfect harmony with the new note of beauty expressed throughout.

The enclosed models are up-holstered in long wearing material and in colors that blend with the exterior finish. Deep comfortable springs in the cushions and seat backs combine with cozier bodies to add to the pleasure of riding. The remote Ternerstedt door controls and regulators and door locks add their touch to the luxury of the interior. Excellent vision and ventilation are afforded by the famous Fisher VV windshield which can be opened and closed by the turning of a conveniently located Ternerstedt regulator. The instrument panel is artistic in design and is directly lighted. The rear view mirror has full universal action.

Donor Light
The sedan and the convertible landau have the additional luxuries of a robe rail, foot rest, and ash tray. A dome light is also furnished on these models and on the coach.

All of the colors are completely new, smart and selected to bring out the beauty and symmetry of the body types to the best advantage. The aristocratic convertible landau is finished in Crockett brown with Mistino gray belt and striped in Shalimar orange. Window mouldings are in Mistino gray, and it is upholstered in mohair. Standard equipment includes steel disc wheels, 4.50 by 20 balloon tires, stop light, smoking set and robe rail. The coach is finished in Norse gray with Helmet gray belt, is striped in Tusk ivory and the window mouldings are of Helmet gray. It is upholstered in blue corduroy.

Equipment includes steel disc wheels, 4.50 by 20 balloon tires, one piece "VV" windshield, rear view mirror, stoplight door pocket, gasoline gauge and theft-proof lock.

New Colors
Coolie blue is the dominant color note of the coupe with a Buddha blue belt. It is striped in mountain ash scarlet, and the window mouldings are in Buddha blue. Standard equipment includes one piece "VV" windshield, stop light rear view mirror and a removable weatherproof cover over the spacious rear deck. Finished in Huntington green with Como green belt, Odyssey ivory stripe and Como green window mouldings, the sedan is one of the best looking models of the line. The upholstery is in green corduroy. Standard equipment, automatic windshield wiper, rear view mirror, stop light and robe rail.

The convertible cabriolet is finished in Trionon blue with Delphine blue belt, Tusk ivory stripe, and window mouldings of Delphine blue. It is quickly converted into a sport roadster by lowering the top. Standard equipment includes steel disc wheels, 4.50 by 20 balloon tires, stoplight, one piece windshield, rear view mirror and parking lamps on the cowl.

Open Models
The open models, the phaeton and the roadster are of strikingly different color combinations. The phaeton is finished in Lush green with Zanzibar green belt, Tusk ivory stripe and Zanzibar green mouldings. Standard equipment includes steel disc wheels, 4.50 by 20 balloon tires, outside door handles, curtains opening with the doors, gasoline gauge, theft proof lock and complete tool kit.

The roadster is finished in Mistino gray with Estes Park gray belt, Vincennes red strip and Estes Park gray mouldings. The top is easily and quickly lowered, and a boot for the top is provided. Equipment includes 4.50x20 balloon tires, stop light, rear view mirror, outside door handles door opening storm curtains and a gasoline gauge.

ENGLISH CAR TERMS TOLD DRIVERS

"Wash the windshield and the quarter and back lights of this saloon, please, and adjust the strangler and the suction wiper. Then fill the tank with anti-pink-ing petrol."

What does it all mean? It's merely an English motorist telling a mechanic to clean windshield and the side and rear windows of his sedan, and to adjust the choke and the windshield cleaner. His reference to petrol, more familiarly known on these shores as gasoline, indicates his preference for anti-knock fuel.

Motorists who take their cars abroad this summer for a motor trip in England will learn an almost completely new automotive vocabulary, according to L. J. Thomas, Studebaker-Erskine dealer here. They will learn, for instance that feeders are wings, the hood is the bonnet, and the top is the hood.

The transmission, they will find, is known as the gearbox and the conventional L-head motor will be caused a side valve engine. The generator is called, aptly enough, the dynamo. Spring covers are spark plugs are always sparking spring gaiters and a wrench with plugs. The carburetor undergoes a slight change to become carburettor. Motor trucks are known as lorries, and their capacity is referred to as so many hundred-weight.

Auto Dollar On Increase

Compared with the dollar of 1910, the automobile dollar of today is worth $1.12 while the present day cost of living dollar is equal to 62c. These figures states the National Automobile club, were issued by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

Safety Built In Modern Machines

It is well to de-clutch and accelerate the engine occasionally when compelled to move slowly through traffic in intermediate gear. The slow operation of the motor is likely to load up the engine with oil or raw gas and encourage it to stall. Oil accumulates in the combustion chamber when the motor is idling. Speeding up the motor a trifle clears it out.

Replacing the brake lining on one wheel is hardly satisfactory. If one wheel needs relining it probably means that the others must be in a somewhat similar condition and the only practical method is to replace all at the same time.

One Bad Brake May Mean Two

125,850 Machines In South Africa

South Africa had 125,850 motor vehicles in operation at the beginning of this year, according to the California State Automobile association.

Keep Fuel Pump Of Car Clean

Many of the later model cars are equipped with a fuel pump which replaces the vacuum pump and occasionally the check valve in this pump will become clogged with a piece of lint or dirt. To blow out the line and remove the obstruction, the free emergency road service of the California State Automobile association suggests that you remove the fuel pipe from the carburetor and force air back through the pump. This difficulty will rarely occur if the gas tank is not permitted to run dry. Allowing the tank to run dry causes the pump to draw up particles or sediment from the bottom of the tank.

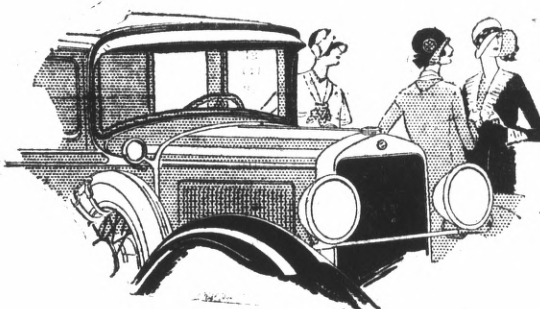

Big Rock Creek Attracts Autos

The Big Rock Creek district, lying ninety-eight miles north-west of Los Angeles, provides one of the most beautiful picnic and camping spots in southern California, suggests the Touring department of the National Automobile club. It is reached via Calhuenia Pass, San Fernando Saugus, Mt. Canyon, and Big Rock. Pavement extends eight miles beyond the latter point, thence oiled macadam for six miles to junction. At the junction, take the road to the right paralleling Big Rock creek. This creek, bordered by tall cotton-woods, sycamores and alders—the latter quite rare in southern California, offers many beautiful picnic spots, as well as several public camp grounds. The entire district is now aflame with color, the beautiful yellow bloom of the "John C. Fremont" bush being seen in great profusion, as are also lupins, Mariposa thistles, yuccas, and buckthorn.

Car Registrations Reach 24,493,124

FILM MYSTERY STARS OLD FAVORITE

All lovers of mystery dramas should find with delight "The Donovan Affair," the Columbia 100 percent dialogue production which will open at the Fox-California theater tonight. Without doubt this is one of the finest detective stories and talking pictures that has reached the screen.

The Owen Davis stage play by the same name was a success, and the screen version leaves nothing to be desired. The mystery surrounding the strange killing of Jack Donovan at a dinner table and the later death of another character in the same manner and by the same means is a gripping and profound. The false clues are many. The apparently contradictory acting of the various people in the play confuses the mind until the denouement, which comes swiftly and is wholly logical as well as surprising.

The entire cast is above the average. Jack Holt excellently himself as the sleuth, Dorothy Revier, William Collier Jr., John Roche, Fred Kelsey, Agnes Ayres, Wheeler Oakman, Virginia Brown, and Ethel Wales complete a superlative cast. Frank Capra's direction is flawless, proving again the skill of this young director who handled the Columbia hit "Submarine."

No matter how many mystery pictures are produced, we are always ready for more if they are of this calibre. The dialogue is superb. There is talking all over the set. This plus the fact that the characters talk and act naturally imbues "The Donovan Affair" with a most life-like quality. It is good entertainment and will appeal to all young and old.

Donovan Affair

DOROTHY REVIER and Jack Holt star in the Columbia production "The Donovan Affair," coming to the Fox California today and tomorrow.

STAGE STAR TO APPEAR IN TALKIE

Jeanne Eagels, who gained national fame with her characterization of Sadie Thompson in "Rain," has the leading role in Paramount's latest all-talking picture, "The Letter," which will be shown at the Fox-California theater Tuesday and Wednesday.

Miss Eagels' career on the stage and screen has been colorful. At the age of seven, she embarked on her theatrical career. Of all her stage roles, however, she likes that of Sadie Thompson best. She played in that production all over the country for five years and only missed 18 performances.

In "The Letter," Miss Eagels' talents are ideally suited to the role of a wife who falls in love with another man and kills him because he throws her aside. Her emotional acting in this all-talking picture equals that in any of her stage performances.

The management states that this picture is not recommended for children—and on the bill is an all talking Laurel and Hardy comedy entitled "Uncle Remond, as W. A. Aye." This comedy was selected to run with the "Broadway Melody" at its showing at the Columbia theater in San Francisco.

Woodchuck Gets Drunk On Apples

FRANKLIN, N. H., June 15—(U.P.)—Seeing his shadow would have been difficult for a ground hog discovered in a barrel of over-ripe apples in Edward Rayno's cellar here. The woodchuck proved to be intoxicated—the result of apple-juice of the hard cider variety, which it had consumed.

DOCTOR HELD IN MURDER OF GOED

men, although she was pretty. She played tennis and golf, and often walked alone in the twilight before starting a night with her text books. She had finished the preparatory course and was taking advanced work leading to a degree of doctor of medicine.

Dr. Snook, a bearded man in a blue coupe whose description fits the veterinarian, occasionally took her riding. Some times she had "dates" with Dr. Marion Meyer of the department of horticulture. Meyer came into police headquarters today and gave a satisfactory alibi.

That left Dr. Snook as the only suspect in the case. He submitted to arrest without protest and drove to headquarters in the blue coupe in which friends had seen him riding with Miss Hix.

Hand Bandaged

One of the doctor's hands was bandaged. He explained that he had injured it when a wrench slipped while he was repairing his car earlier in the week.

Police surgeons examined the hand and said it must have been injured several days ago.

"When did you have the injury dressed? Doctor Snook was asked.

"Not until last night. I took care of it myself at first."

Detectives then began directing questions at Dr. Snook designed to trap him into an admission that he had been with Miss Hix on the night she was murdered—presumably Thursday.

Doctor Snook explained calmly that he reported at his campus office Thursday evening at 7:45 o'clock to clear up some work. He said that later in the evening he went to a golf club to get his shooting glasses and then home and to bed.

ONE HELD IN MURDER OF GUARD

WICHITA, Kan., June 15.—UP

—Widely divergent trails of the new famous Lamar, Colo., bank robbers and the Hutchinson, Kan., crap game hijacking which cost two lives, crossed at McPherson, Kan., this afternoon when Eddie Cantrell was arrested on order of Sheriff L. E. Alderman of Lamar.

After Cantrell's incarceration in McPherson officers began a check of his recent activities and it was ascertained that he was seen in company with Jimmy Hines and Harry Lantz in Hutchinson a few hours before the crap game on the O. H. Cheshire farm was thrown in confusion by a trio of hijackers armed with sawed-off shotguns.

During the attempted robbery of the crap game Ed Sexton, guard for the gamblers, was shot to death and Harry Lantz, one of the hijackers, was wounded fatally by Jack Collins, gambler who returned their fire.

Cantrell has a prison record of several years and at various times has gone under the aliases of Eddie Cantwell, Ed Jones and several others.

Officers declare Cantrell has done a lot of talking about the Lamar robbery and has been heard to remark that he knew who staged the robbery but that it "is a tough outfit and I'm keeping my mouth shut."

So when he thought the time had come, he settled in a little bungalow near here with his wife, Evelyn, 29 year old trouper.

Funds depleted. Standard of living was lowered. Finally Helms sought to sell his wife's trained pony and when she refused, threatened to leave. Today she shot and killed him.

"Good-bye, old boy, I'm going with you," she whispered as her last line, pressed the gun against her heart and pulled the trigger. The weapon was empty.

She is held on a murder charge.

New Auto Law Has Sharp Teeth

J. B. Baldwin, local insurance advisor, hewlth, publishes new Assembly Bill No. 592, which reads as follows: This bill requires that motor vehicle operators or owners give proof of ability to respond to damage suits and such operators and owners will be required to respond to such damage in limits of $5,000 for death or injury to one person in an accident; $10,000 for death or injury to two or more persons in a single accident; $1,000 for property damage for a single accident. While the foregoing bill does not make automobile insurance compulsory, it does make it absolutely necessary for the owner of a motor vehicle to be financially able either through personal means or a policy of insurance to satisfy any judgment in excess of $100. Failure to satisfy judgment will cause auto owner to lose license until judgment is paid.

Mr. Baldwin is in a position to furnish the necessary coverage until July 1 at a very low rate. If you have a policy that expires before September 30 and you bring it in for renewal, you can still get the advantage of his low rates. Mr. Baldwin can arrange convenient terms for you to pay. Cut this notice out as it will not appear again. See Mr. Baldwin at 325 Sixth St., phone Richmond 612.

Alimony Plea Denied Wage Earning Wife

CHICAGO, June 15—Alimony of $50 a week was refused Mrs. Regina M. Hendricks here today by Judge William N. Gemmill. Instead he granted her $15 a week from her husband who was willing to pay out of "sentiment" for their marriage.

Mrs. Hendricks sought a divorce on the grounds of cruelty. Evidence produced indicated that she is a wage earner as a business woman and magazine writer.

Judge Gemmill ruled that in his opinion where the woman has an income of her own she cannot expect her husband to support her.

FLIERS FAIL IN HOP TO PARIS

COMILLAS, Spain, June 15.—UP

—Bad luck overtook the French monoplane Yellow Bird tonight after its successful non-stop voyage across the ocean and the fliers were unable to continue their trip to Paris.

The starting apparatus without which it was impossible to get the motor going, arrived late in the day from Madrid and the big motor was started by a ground crew.

The three fliers and their stowaway companion occupied the cabin and the pilot, Jean Assolant, took the controls. He raced the engine at top speed, for a minute, and then jumped out.

"It's no use," Assolant explained. "Our luck has changed. We've got engine trouble and a gasoline leak as well. We will have to stay here."

Rene Le Fevre, the navigator, Armand Letti, the backer of the flight, and Arthur Schreiber, the stowaway, followed him to the ground.

The four were discouraged and Le Fevre was almost in tears. They conferred together and finally decided to take the night train to Paris.

They were disoriented from doing so, however, when it was explained that Paris was anxious to see them come home in triumph by air and that an arrival by train would disappoint the crowds at Le Bourget field, as well as proving an anti-climax.

The Yellow Bird rested on the flat pebbly beach near here, in the same spot where it landed between 8 and 8:30 p. m. yesterday after a nonstop flight from Old Orchard, Maine.
